'Tis the season to cheer for Orange!

Pour House

907 Boylston Street, Boston

SU basketball season is underway—with new rivalries, high-stakes competition, and a host of game-watching events! Join fellow Orange fans and the SU Alumni Club of Boston at our official game-watching hot spot, Pour House. See the event schedule.

Special Feature

Orange Nation, are you in?

As loyal fans, members of SU's regional alumni clubs have cheered on the Orange in its battles with rivals. Now, we're asking you to invest in the success of our teams as they take on the ACC! In the spirit of athletic competition, we've issued a challenge to all 35 chartered alumni clubs in the U.S. Read about the "I'm in" Alumni Club Challenge, and check out our video at suathletics.com/imin.

In the News

See photos from recent Boston events

This fall had no shortage of great SU events! On November 12, 2013, James Fathers, inaugural Iris Magidson Endowed Chair of Design Leadership at SU's College of Visual and Performing Arts, visited Boston for a Design Leadership reception. Two days later, Boston alumni, friends, and SU students gathered for the Entrepreneurship in Boston keynote address and panel discussion, featuring Syracuse University Professor Carl Schramm. ### iSchool road trip: a student's perspective

In November, SU's iSchool took 45 students on a two-day road trip to experience Boston's entrepreneurial scene. The program coincided with the Entrepreneurship in Boston alumni reception, panel, and keynote, featuring Syracuse University Professor Carl Schramm. Read one student's reflection on the trip and how it opened his eyes to new career possibilities.

Meet Megan Walsh '09

For Generation Orange alumna Megan Walsh '09, the SU experience led to great friends, an excellent education, and a broader awareness of the world. "The network of people I met at Syracuse impacted my life tremendously," she says. "From friends to professors, SU introduced me to many different people with a wide range of world views, and that forced me to look at situations from multiple perspectives. I feel a great deal of gratitude toward SU." Read more.
